

5 Falcon athletes sign for collegiate play

Baseball

Ian Bailey

Committing to Grambling State University in Grambling, La., senior Ian Bailey signs his letter of intent to play baseball, with his parents Ezra Bailey and Rachel Campos and coach Preston Rogers. “My goal for next year is to get some good playing time and show what I can do against the big time universities,” Bailey said. “That will ultimately make me a better and stronger player.” Photo Courtesy of Ian Bailey

Football

Elijah Earls

From a Falcon to a Lion, senior Elijah Earls signs his letter of intent to Texas A&M-Commerce with his mom, Regina Earls. “Knowing that not many people are granted this opportunity,” Earls said. “So it says for itself how far I’ve come and how hard I had to work to get to this point.”

Elijah Garcia

Soon to be playing for the Owls, senior Elijah Garcia signs his letter of intent to Rice University. with his parents Candido Jr. and Stephine Garica. “Just the fact that my football career is going to go on. So many seniors across the country have played their last football game,” Garcia said. “Knowing that I have many more [games] in front of me is exciting.”

Softball

Amy Magallanez

Senior Amy Magallanez wears her future college shirt along with her parents Mark and Anita Magallanez, Vernon College in support of her. “To go out and continue to play softball in college is what I’m excited for next year,” Magallanez said. “Softball is my passion and I’m glad I have an opportunity to continue to play.” Vernon College is located in Vernon, Texas.

D’Anthony Carter

Signing his letter of intent for football, senior D’Anthony Carter with his mom Tabitha Carther commits to Cisco College in Cisco, Texas. “[I am] most excited to be [playing] against D1 talent every week,” Carter said. “My [upcoming] expectation is to start as a freshman and my top goal is to be [selected] All-American.”
