

Students excel at Ren Fest

In November, students competed in various contests at the Texas Renaissance Festival in Plantersville.

- 1. Senior Autumn Hamlin interviews a vender for school day's Journalism competition. "I enjoyed interviewing the workers because it gave me a glimpse into their lives," Hamlin said. (R. Carter)*
- 2. Junior Alexis Bones and the trebuchet team watch as the bean bag flies into the air during a test run. "One of the trebuchets was ridiculous," Bones said. "It flew the beanbag a good 50 feet up." (E. Juarez)*
- 3. Senior Jordan Carfield shows joy with the rest of theatre with winning first place. "I was so excited. We haven't won in my high school career, and it made my senior year to win in first." (E. Juarez)*
- 4. Senior Daniel Ferrell professes his love for his maiden. "My character was saying he was going to fight for his love," Ferrell said. (E. Juarez)*
- 5. Senior Cadie McNally is the canvas for the artist. "Every year theatre goes to the Ren Fest, my friend Tess and I always get a henna tattoo," McNally said. "It was very hard trying to decide what to get so I went with a basic tree." (R. Carter)*
