

Bethany Ross, 12, dribbles past the opponent to the basket at the Legacy vs. Fort Worth Paschal game on Nov. 17.

At the Red Out pep-rally, Peter Contreras, 10, tries to throw toilet paper rolls in a hula hoop for the class competition. The senior class won the competition, beating the teachers by one point.

Bailey North, 12, tapes a sign to PVC pipe for the football players to run through when the game starts.

Fiona Hoang, 12, and Sarah Haslam, 12, try to collect as much candy as they can in a lab experiment.

Caleb Finger, 9, leads exercises in JROTC practice on Oct. 28 in the parking lot.

Clayton Phillips, 9, tees off at golf practice at the Southern Oaks Gold Club on Oct. 14.

During the fight song, fans display the school's hand sign as the school song plays. The band played the song at the end of every game, and freshman Nick Pena sat behind them. Pena played trombone in the concert band. "Legacy is special because their music program is the best I've been in," Pena said. "Even though I wasn't in the marching band, I still enjoyed sitting by them."

John Patterson, 12, and other chess club members practice their chess skills after school.

Emmy Lass, 10, and Anna Roberts, 10, participate in tug of war during Pink Fest on Nov 7.

The JV football team celebrates after a win against Crowley. The Broncos beat Crowley 19-0. (Aisha DeBurr photo)