POST-GAME GAMING

At fifth quarter, after the Holland game, Denton Meiske relaxes at the First Baptist Church across from the high school. "I was playing the Angry Birds game," he said. The goal of the game was to shoot a ball with a sling-shot and knock over as many boxes as possible.

ALL STRUNG OUT

While learning about vectors, Kaci Builta, Candace Gautreaux, and Morgan Grisham perfect their line to accurately create a shape on the ground. "We were racing Chelsea's group to finish first, but it ended up being a tie," Kaci said. By following directions previously given to them, Mr. Ryan Burgard's 7th period Pre-AP Physics class made the shape by wrapping strings around rods the groups placed, which spelled out THS 16. Photo by Megan Byrd

CRICKET-BUSTERS

For a few weeks in September the high school was infested with crickets. "We were teaming up to kill crickets, Mrs. Strnad and I," he said. To help clean up her classroom, Cash hit the table legs to knock the crickets out, while Mrs. Christina Strnad sucked them up with a vacuum. Photo by Alyssa Kramer

What's Up?

"I love picking on Morgan during our Physics labs, because it annoys her <3."
