"I would say senior Daylon Washington. He's a great kid like I was and an athlete like I was, but we both made some of the same mistakes because we are both passionate."

CRISPIN CORTEZ
 Assistant Principal

"Darrian Jensen reminds me of myself when I was in high school because I was a theatre and choir kid and always had older boyfriends like she does, but I was not as talented as she is."

LIZ PENA
 Assistant Principal

"Brandy Olivo has a natural energy that is contagious. She loves her school and her classmates because she has a good heart. I see myself in her because she always wants to do what is best for others."

ELENA VILLANUEVA
 Assistant Principal

"Aliyah Starnes reminds me of myself. As much fun as she is having in her numerous extra-curricular activities, she is keeping focused on her future. She is passionate about learning, trying new things, but makes time for her friends."

KRISTY LILLEY
 English III & IV, AP English III & IV, ULL Prose, Poetry, One Act Play

"Richard Givans because he's always smiling and is very positive. He's involved in football, theatre and encourages everyone."

IT IS MY STORY

TEACHER OF THE YEAR GARY LEJARZAR

"I believe that most of my colleagues, regardless what they teach, want each student to gain as much knowledge as they can in the classroom. Then, we want them to use that knowledge and apply it effectively in their own lives. Don't just know...do. That's wisdom."

There is no doubt in my mind about the one thing that distinguishes me from other educators. It is the number of years that I have been in the teaching profession. With those 33 years of service, I have gained a different perspective and appreciation for the job that we do.

My philosophy of education has positively evolved as I have matured in the profession and my own personal life.

As a "seasoned teacher," father, and grandfather...I see the students in a different way now. I see young faces that remind me of my own children and grandchildren. It makes me want to do even better for these students."
