Q: You don't have much free time with theatre, how do you manage your time with school, extracurriculars, and hobbies?
A: I make sure I get everything accomplished before the week-end so I can do my fun stuff then. I get all of my school work done during the week even if it has me staying up super late.

Q: What is one of your weirdest hobbies?
A: Dirt biking. I started when I was ten. My step-dad taught me.

Q: Sounds dangerous—have you ever hurt yourself?
A: The second day I had it, I hydro-planed and got cuts all down my calves.

Q: Do you do anything less daring?
A: Yes, haha, I bake, play the viola, and I knit hats. Knitting is really relaxing. A friend who used to live here taught me, but then she moved so I only learned how to knit hats.

Q: Is there anything you bake out of the ordinary?
A: I make all the basic things, but I try weird things too like cookies with different fillings.

Q: Have you ever had an incident in the kitchen?
A: One time my sister and I were going to make a cake and she started the mixer with just flour so it went all over the kitchen. It was a huge mess!

LOGAN PRINCE KAUAI

“I've lived in a lot of places. I might not have been here the longest, but that doesn't change that I am for sure a Texan.”

Q: You have lived in a lot of places right?
A: Yeah, I was born in New Mexico, lived in Utah, all over Texas, and Alaska.

Q: Where was your favorite place to live?
A: Definitely Alaska because it was so cool and diverse. The people who lived there were so weird, haha.

Q: Is there anywhere you would like to visit?
A: I want to go to Ireland, apparently my family has a castle there.

Q: So are you like a prince or something?
A: No, but I would I would like to be one and eat grapes all day long. I guess that's what they do.

Q: So how many people are in your "royal family"?
A: Counting me, there are six children in my family. The oldest is 20 and the youngest is 7. Most of the time I just try to zone them out.

Q: You always seem to dress really nice? Why?
A: I don't want to look like everyone else, and I always try to look my best.

THIS TOO
Junior year requires more responsibility than being an underclassman. It's not always as easy and rewarding as it looks.

1. "At tennis practice one day someone forget to bring their racket. I try to keep an extra so I let them borrow mine, it was okay until he broke my racket."
-Jackson Douglas

2. "Sometimes in theatre we have too much fun and the freshman will see us and goof off too. We have to really watch ourselves to set a good example."
-Rachel Harris

3. "One day I was helping at my dad's radio station and I was trying to make sure two stations weren't repeating. Instead of turning one off, both stations were silent for two hours."
-Anthony Delgiorno
