GIDDENS COLLECTS SHIRTS, AWARDS FROM AROUND THE WORLD

From the taekwondo arenas of Thailand to the streets of Spain, junior Maddy Giddens collected t-shirts as she travelled and competed around the world.

Her collection included shirts from Colombia, TaiPei, Egypt, Finland, France, and Germany as she represented the United States on a National Taekwondo team.

"At every international competition, countries bring shirts to trade," Giddens said. "It's an eye-opening experience meeting and connecting with people from all over the world."

While in Germany, Giddens arranged to trade shirts with a young woman, Brigitte Yague, a member of the National team for Spain. Yague won a silver medal at the 2012 London Olympics for Spain and ended up trading her sister's olympic shirt with Giddens's shirt. Yague's sister was a flyweight in the Olympics.

Giddens' adventures continued as she attended international events such as the German Open, Korean Open, U.S. Open, and Canadian and Colombian Opens. Along with team titles, she also qualified individually for the 2012-2013 Junior National Team, 2014 Senior National Team Alternate, and 2014-2015 Junior National Team. Her hours of practice along with her passion for taekwondo led her to these victories.

"What makes taekwondo special to me is having the opportunity to represent my country while doing what I love. It's an amazing feeling," Giddens said.
