

Follow Me motto

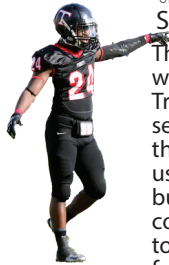

Sala Mose
Senior Offensive
For the first time, the offensive linemen were recognized for their efforts with a special shirt for their position group. They were given the name "Hawgs" and the shirts had a picture of a hog on the front and the words "Follow

"The 'hawgs' was a name that was given to us because we liked to get down and dirty in the trenches," Mose Said.

"Being a 'hawg' meant that we were the foundation of a good offense," Cumbie said.

It started with an offensive line, if the running back did not have huge linemen blocking, making and leading the way to the end zone he would not get far.

The hawgs' resilience was what propelled the Trojans to a 10-1 regular season. Their hard work throughout the season usually went unnoticed, but they knew the contribution they made toward another successful season.

"Follow Me' meant when we led, we made sure our team did not fall and achieved what we set our minds to," Fakahua said.

"It meant follow me on and off the field. Not by just doing, but with meaning and character."

Junior Tackle
The words "Follow Me" on the back had more significance than just on-the-field play. The offensive linemen wanted to set a standard off the field too.
