

Worthy Selfies

Coach Goebel's pictures capture the memorable moments coachgoebel Proud if these girls for all their hard work this season! Three of them made it to state!

12 likes

morgan_reese_12, wispawik_alyssialeigh, coachgoebel, brooke_behrendt24, lilliancarson_saggin_4, stacy_grumbles coachgoebel State Powerlifting with this group! amazing couple of days! blessed!

As Coach Goebel pulled his phone from his pocket, he fixed his hair. He then checked to make sure his lips weren't dry, and turned his head to the not-so-crooked side of his nose.

"Wanna take a selfie?" he asked his team members after they each placed at the Florence meet, out lifting girls from 4-5A schools. "We loved Coach Goebel's selfies", said Ashley Porter, 9th.

Jordyn Johnson, 9th, said the selfies were good for team bonding. "They were weird and brought a lot of smiles to our faces, and most of all, gave us more faith than anything."

The girls' faith in themselves combined with their strength, led three lifters, Alyssia Aleman, 10th, Brooke Behrendt, 10th, and Sarah Gautreaux, 9th, to the state power lifting meet in Corpus Christi.

Although the guys did not document every success with a selfie, they did compete in four invitational meets and Alex Kyner, 12th, competed in the regional meet.

Alex and the other boys were not part of the selfie craze. "Other males don't take stuff like selfies with other grown men. Like, it's just not cool."

While the selfies weren't cool for the boys, the girls continued to take them on the road to state.

Both power lifting teams went to prove a point, and the girls team ended up making a statement. Sarah Gautreaux placed in the top five, while Alyssia Aleman and Brooke Behrendt were just shy of placing top ten in the state.

Story by Dessiny Turk