Lady Vandals capture record season

Reaching the goal of Semi-regional finalists, volleyball members sailed past the competition in one of the best seasons under Coach Kristen Reaves.

“Watching this awesome team make it to the Regional Tournament and being one of the top 16 teams in the state was what I will always remember,” Reaves said.

“This was an inspiring year because the seniors were such great leaders,” freshman Cheyenne Sallee said. “They helped us get to where we were.”

Lockwood plays at State course

Logan Lockwood made golf history with his appearance at the state tournament. "Lockwood is the first golfer to make it to the state round," Coach Toby Mitchell said. "Many people don't understand how many hours it takes to perfect such a sport. That's what impresses me the most about him."

Other golfers were Mullika Seekhio, Courtney Pickett, Ashley Mosley, Kayla Kavanaugh, Aly Pickett, Hunter Redmond, DJ Dutton, Rye Redmon, Luke Adkison, Garrett Reding and Tanner Welborn.

Mullika was the district runner up and TIED for 15th at the regional tournament.

Pep rallies spawn crazy stunts, speeches

& YELL

Give Hunter Anderson a microphone at a pep rally again and students may never see fourth period on a Friday. What started as a shout out became a call out as Anderson mentioned every member of the Varsity team.

“At first I thought it was really cool, but then by the end I thought Hunter was going to call out the janitors name by name too,” sophomore Dylan Turner said.

Other memorable moments upon the red vinyl gym floor included when the coaches impersonated some of the players and the volleyball teams shared their musical talent.

“I liked it when the coaches pretended to be us because it got them involved and it was fun to see a different side of them,” junior Brett Doring. “Coach Schmidtke was the best because his impersonation of Cooper was hilarious.”

A top favorite rally was Homecoming.

“I really loved the Homecoming pep rally because the decorations were really cool, especially the big ‘We Are Van’ banner,” sophomore Stephanie Stanger

“I felt ten percent more athletic pretending to be

Bledsoe than I did when I was 18 years old.”
- Coach Adam Schmidtke

“Cheering is so exciting. You have to WORK hard and have to trust your team and hope that everything that you worked for turns out okay.”

Young artists bring pumpkins & favorite characters to life

Story time came to life for young students as they traded in their ordinary fashion for remarkable colors and transformed into their favorite characters.

"The kids had a hard time knowing who I was," Mrs. Christy Pack said. "They kept asking 'who is that?' while I disguised my voice and was dressed as the old man from Up."

Another fun activity allowed students to test their creative skills decorating pumpkins. Some of the favorite designs included the KISS band members and of course, some scary characters.

"They all thought it was HILARIOUS. All day long they called me 'Ms. Frizzle'. It incorporated learning with having fun and it created quite a few laughs from the parent pick-up line."
