

All Fun & Games

Games, challenges, Spirit Stick Competition make Pep Rallies memorable

During Pep-rallies many games are played to get kids hyped to play there last or first games of the season. Some of the games that have been played are different kinds of relays, put the marshmallow in the cup, pop the balloon, crack the egg on your head, pop your opponent's balloons before they pop yours, and they all encourage friendly competition. "When I had the balloons tied around my ankles all I could think was that I couldn't stay in one spot or I would lose so I ran around the whole time," Sebastian Vasquez 7 said. Teachers get activities as well as get to be the referee in the different games. "My hair kept on getting in the way, but it wasn't really that hard to get the marshmallow to stick to the straw,"

Photo by: Kenna Weisenberger

"When I was spinning all I could think of was that I was going to fall on the floor and wasn't going to be able to get up 'cause I was SO DIZZY" Kalei Engleman 7.

the privilege to pick the kids that get to participate in the Amarissa Quiroz 6 said. During every pep-rally we have a time of yelling and screaming for our grade level called "Who's house, Cougs House."

WHO'S HOUSE?

Sable Howells 8 carries Cameron Jones 8 as they get ready to cheer for 8th grade. Cameron got his balance on Sable's shoulders. "I trust him to not drop me, because Sable is really strong," Cameron said.

MARSHMALLOW STRAW

Lila Reyes 6 and Amarissa Quiroz 6 uses a straw to put marshmallows into a cup. It was a competition to see how many marshmallows you could get in the cup. "It was kind a hard; I was really focused on playing the game," Lila said.

Photo by: Anias Greenwood

Photo by Anias Greenwood

BOILED EGG
 Joe Aleman 8 and the rest of the 8th grade boys football team crack what they hope are boiled eggs on their heads to see who has the raw one in a game of Egg Roulette. "All I could think about was I hope I didn't get the regular egg," Joe said.
 Photo by: Anias Greenwood

The Amazing Plunger Race!

Abigail Gorostieta-Jaramillo 7

"It was fun, I got the plungers stuck on the floor, so it was hard to move!"

Photo by Sarah Omar

"It wasn't really that hard, I felt it was entertaining for the crowd."

Ruben Miranda 8

Photo by Keda Dixon

Julian Becerra 8, and Johnathan Santibanez 8 hold back Jalen Brown 7 at the beginning of the race.

Photo by Keda Dixon

Photo by Anias Greenwood

Marcos Cantu 7

Photo by: Anias Greenwood

"It was hard to pop the balloon. It kind a hurt MY BUTT, but it was fun."

"All I could think was 'Oh God, Oh no! I thought I could win.'"

Photo by: Kenna Weisenberger

Miranda Castillo 8

Photo by Jaycee Venegas

POP THAT BALLOON

Sebastian Vasquez 7 and Sean Gunn 7 try to pop each others balloons. They were the last two left out of a group of volleyball and football players. "It was fun, it was kind a hard to pop the balloons," Sean said.

Photo by Anias Greenwood

HONORING OUR VETERANS

Kenna Weisenberger 7 and Sarah Omar 7 present pieces of writings done by 7th graders at the Veterans Day assembly. "It was a little nerve racking at first, but once I got up to the podium my nerves went away," Kenna said.