

Double-teamed

Harter has mother as teacher and director

Being a teacher's kid can be tough, and sophomore Chelsea Harter has a double dose of it - not only is her mom, Amanda Harter, one of her teachers, but she is also her Belle Director.

"I think that it's a lot harder on her than it is on me," Amanda Harter said. "I grew up with a relative on each campus, so it's normal for me having her in my class. I definitely don't treat her any differently than I treat any other of my students, and I have to watch myself because I'll be harder on her."

Chelsea is very active in several organizations, including 4-H, Belles and FCCLA, where she earned a spot as a regional officer this year.

"I am very excited about my office; I can't wait," Chelsea said. "It's been so much fun to work on this with Mrs. Neyland, and I am excited."

According to her mother, Chelsea is a very hard worker in the classroom as well as in her extracurricular events.

"I never have to check Chelsea's grades," Amanda Harter said. "She checks her grades three or four times a day and takes care of what she needs to" -by Brittany Scott

Nadia Garcia

James Rodell

SOPHOMORE Faves

Dawson Adams
Lilah Adams
Landen Agapiou
Angel Arriaga
Caleb Ayres
Erik Barragan
Kassidy Bell
Lauren Beshears

Mirna Campos
Tacie Ceron
Zeke Ceron
Ima Champion
Tyler Clinton
Shalyn Cotton
Seth Daniel
Gracie Davis

Ivan Dominguez
Sonia Dominguez
Taylor Farris
Nadia Garcia
Rebecca Gordon
Lizbeth Guevara
Troy Hallmark
Joshua Hammons

Chelsea Harter
Sean Haycock
Nathan Helmcamp
Gisselle Holguin
Kaitlyn Houk
Robert Johnston
Katerina Kelly
Jasmine Kolb

Keep your eye on the prize Maltos stays on track even during downtime

While many teenagers are hanging out by the pool or watching 3 seasons of One Tree Hill on Netflix all summer long, sophomore Jordy Maltos takes that time to stand out, working out to stay in shape for athletics.

“Jordy is an outstanding athlete,” freshman Hector Dominguez said. “He is willing to put in the work while others don’t. He refuses to give up even in the face of opposition.”

Maltos is involved in many school activities. From playing football, baseball, and running track to debating at speech meets, school takes an important role in his life. He also takes pre-ap classes to show he is more than just an athlete.

“I always had the ideology that bad grades won’t cut it for college,” Maltos said. “Believe it or not but school takes a lot of preparation, especially if you want to go further in life.”

Setting up new goals is one thing Maltos enjoys doing. He has a strict workout routine; every day of the week he goes to the weight room to lift weights and run from 6pm to 8pm, unless he is at practice or a game. Each day the workouts become more difficult; however, Jordy says overcoming the obstacles is a pleasure to him.

“I’m the motivation guy in my groups,” Maltos said. “I don’t see failure in my future; even if there is, I make it turn good.”

After high school, Maltos is aiming to play college football and become a real estate agent. Working out every day, setting up a diet, and being involved in school are ways that he believes will guide him to his goals.

“I will admit it’s hard to work for something you always dreamed about,” Maltos said. “However, you never know – if you keep trying you might accomplish things you never even imagined.”

– by Nadia Garcia

