STUDENTS SHOW OFF DIFFERENT FORMS OF ART

FLOWERS ON FLEEK Adding a few finishing details, senior Bra'Shae Seydler makes sure her flowers are beautiful. Floral Design created their own pot of flowers to give to a loved one for Valentine's Day. "I liked making different things throughout the year," Seydler said. (Photo by Lauren Stolle)

Art class. The class labeled as an easy A. Some choose to blow this class off, for others this is the class they look forward to.

"Art is a way to express emotions, perceptions, and ideas," junior Valori Prazak said.

Art class isn't necessarily a class that requires complex problems. In art you do not solve problems, you provoke them. You have the power to create something that has a powerful meaning or story behind it. The arts help you improve your motivation, concentration, critical thinking, and confidence. Ever been told to think outside the box? Art class can help you with that. You can discover a whole different view on the world. It's a place you can be you and express inner emotions through color and shapes instead of words.

Some people have a preference of either 2D or 3D art.

"I mostly sketch rather than paint, but I'd eventually want to try all kinds of art," Prazak said.

Art is a way to escape from reality one project at a time.

"My favorite quote is by Pablo Picasso, "Art washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life", "Prazak said. Art is a valuable life tool.

PRETTY PAPER In the process of paper macheing, freshman Morgan Kubes collects more newspaper to make strips. In Art, the students created larger-than-life springtime creations to decorate the hallway. "I liked how in Art I had the freedom to express myself in every project we did," Kubes said.

MURAL MANIA Being careful to match the original strokes, senior Alyssa Reyes helps restore the mural to its original luster. The art students in Mrs. Ryan Cavness' class helped to restore the mural in the junior high gym foyer. "I felt pretty shocked that Mrs. Cavness trusted me to paint it, but I felt proud knowing I was doing something to be remembered by everybody," Reyes said. (Photo by Keaton McDonald)

EXPRESS YOURSELF Gracefully waving her flag, senior Rebecca Schulte performs at marching competition. The Mighty Brahma Band performed their show called Boundaries for their competition. "I liked how I could let myself go, express my emotions, and enjoy the music," Schulte said. (Photo by Alyssa Schulte)

CLAY CRAZY In making a stop motion film, sophomore Rylyn Walters positions a clay dinosaur. Digital Interactive Media made claymations to show a different type of medium to work with. "My group made a dinosaur just because our project was really random," Walters said. (Photo by Evan Delgado)

GOTTA GOO Surprised by a string of blue goo, junior McKenzie Wilkerson tries to catch the impending sensory gel. In Child Development the class learned how to make a sensory gel for babies as a toy. "I learned that it takes a lot more responsibility than you think to raise a child," Wilkerson said.
